Continuing Your Journey

15 minutes

- Everyone knows that High School Commencement means “Start” or “New Beginning”
- Opportunity to sample new experiences
- Time to develop expertise or proficiency in areas of interest
- Scouting skills will provide an invaluable advantage in college
 - Self reliance (used to taking care of yourself)
 - Confidence (have already been successful)
 - Perseverance (know that hard work leads to achieving result)
 - Goal-oriented (can create a plan to get what you want and then make it happen)
- Scouting Has Given You Strengths to be successful in Life, but especially college
 - Scouting is a values-based program with its own code of conduct (Hopefully by now you have adopted it as well).
 - The Scout Oath and Law help instill the values of good conduct, respect for others, and honesty (this will set you apart from many other people in your life)
 - Scouts learn skills that will last a lifetime, including basic outdoor skills, first aid, citizenship skills, leadership skills, and how to get along with others (you know things, and you know how to behave – this will serve you well as you join a new community and have something to offer others in a dorm setting or in new groups of friends).
 - For almost a century, Scouting has instilled in young men the values and knowledge that they will need to become leaders in their communities and country (you know that more is being expected of you, and you know that college can be a significant part of developing yourself more fully as a person to be a stronger leader later in life)

- Welcome to One Hour a Week
- ASK QUESTION – Show of Hands, How Many of Us Intend to Remain Part of the Scouting Program for the Rest of Our Lives?
- Tough to remain active in home units when you are at college
 - Far from hometown
 - Need to concentrate on coursework
 - Need to spend time developing other interests outside of Scouting
- The BSA understands these challenges, and there are several options for 18 year olds to remain part of the program. If you are able to fully commit to your home unit and serve as an active, trained Assistant Scoutmaster, this doesn't apply to you

 - Any Others?
- Remember you need to remain registered in the BSA for participate in the OA going forward
- Unit College Scouter Reserve
 - Unit College Scouter Reserve exists for college students at least 17 years of age to maintain a Scouting affiliation.
 - These individuals should be registered on a unit roster, but are not required to have any training other than Youth Protection.
 - Use regular adult application submitted through unit
 - Applicants should use position code 92U.
 - Ask audience whether they have had members of their units remain connected through this Unit College Scouter Reserve registration
 - Will also allow a Scout to remain part of the OA, since we all need to be registered in the BSA to remain registered in the Order of the Arrow

 - December Court of Honor
